Yasser Arafat made history in September when he signed a peace treaty with Israel. Arafat is a politician, going out of his way to kiss babies, shake hands, work with the crowd — always showing that he was something more than a guerrilla fighter with a three day beard.

Floods hit the midwest in late spring and early summer — thousands of farms and homes were lost, fields were swamped and towns were submerged. The states that got hit the hardest were Iowa, Illinois, and Missouri, causing billions of dollars worth of damage. President Clinton signed a $5.7 million aid package to help the victims.

Johnson & Johnson, McDonald's Corp. and leading users of paper-based products took an unprecedented environmental initiative and joined together to boost their use of recycled paper. Working with the Environmental Defense Fund, the companies will help devise ways to increase their use of recycled paper and encourage their suppliers to use more environmentally sound methods to make paper products.

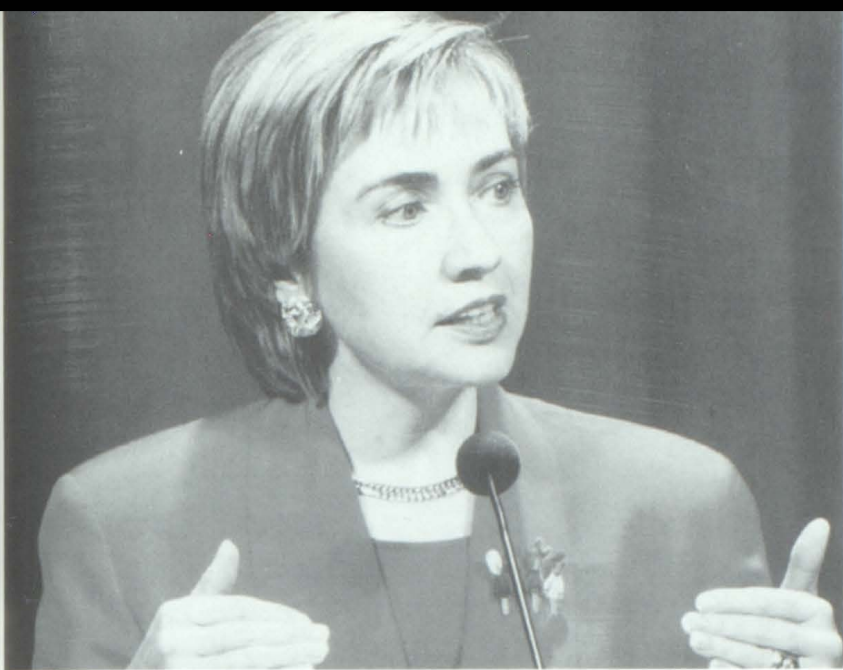

Ross Perot, the Texas computer tycoon and erstwhile presidential candidate, keeps his public image alive after he lost the 1992 presidential bid. He won 19 percent of the vote in the presidential election in a historic independent presidential candidacy. Mr. Perot says he has no plans to run again in 1996.

Janet Reno is the first woman attorney general of the United States. As the nation's head crime fighter, she confronts growing problems — drugs, gangs, violence. The 55-year-old prosecutor — a self-described "awkward old maid" — has become a crusader for America's children. Reno's save the family campaign is one of her many projects.

Nancy Kerrigan, who won a bronze medal for figure skating at the 1992 Olympics, was expected to win the national figure skating title in Detroit in early January. But before she had a chance to compete, she was bashed on the knee by an unidentified assailant. Tonya Harding, who came in fourth at the 1992 Olympics, won the title. Within two weeks of the attack, the 24-year-old Miss Kerrigan was completing her most difficult jumps in practice, including the double-axel, and she was on the Olympic team, where she won a silver medal while Tonya Harding finished eighth.

First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton chaired the White House task force that devised the health security plan. The plan would cost the federal government an extra $350 billion over five years, and Clinton hopes to get most of that money from holding down spending on Medicaid and Medicare, boosting cigarette taxes by about 80-cents a pack and imposing a special levy on corporations that set up their own health plans.

Al Gore became the 45th vice president, bringing an insider's expertise to the Clinton White House. He brought to the job an expertise in environmental and technology issues. With his 16-year congressional career behind him, Gore provided a strong portfolio in foreign policy and arms control.

Russian President Boris Yeltsin dissolved parliament in an unprecedented move in late September and announced new elections in a bold move to end his long-running feud with hard liners. Parliament has lost the right to remain at the key levers of state power. Riots broke out several days later and Yeltsin called in the army to restore peace.

In September the Bosnia parliament rejected an international peace plan for that devastated republic. The move, postponed a settlement that would have ended the 18-month-old war that has partitioned the country into three ethnic states for Croats, Muslims and Serbs. The United Nations has sent a peace-keeping force to the former Yugoslavia to help keep peace among the three warring factions.

Forty seconds shook Los Angeles. At 4:31 on Monday morning, January 17, an earthquake registering 6.6 on the Richter Scale jolted residents of Southern California from their sleep. It was not The Big One, but it left at least 55 people dead, brought down major freeways and destroyed or damaged thousands of homes. The quake caused an estimated $30 billion in damages. In the city of Los Angeles, 4,500 apartments and houses were declared uninhabitable. School district officials estimated building damage at $700 million.

Ruth Bader Ginsburg became the second female Supreme Court Justice. She had won several landmark Supreme Court cases as a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union Women's Rights Project in the late 1970's. She was the prime architect of the then — radical legal argument that the Constitution most often requires equal treatment for men and women.
